THE WORK OF FIRE FIENDS

Attempted to Burn Alive a Tenement Full of People

PRESIDENT M'KINLEY RETURNS

A Half Dozen People Began the Proceedings Without Prayer as the Chaplain Was Absent.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Brooklyn, Jan. 28—Fire bugs placed a barrel of paper saturated with kerosene in the hall of a big double tenement a No. 9 Norstrand avenue this morning and touched a match to the barrel after having firmly tied the door on the outside. The tenement is occupied by about forty families. One of the tenants who was starting to work discovered the fire before it had gained much headway and at once gave the alarm.

The occupants rushed to the roof in their night garments and crossed over to the adjoining building. The flames were extinguished and only the ground floors were damaged. An investigation will be made.

A SLIM BEGINNING.

Washington, Jan. 28—There were but a half dozen senators present at the usual hour of meeting this morning. In the absence of the chaplain the proceedings began without the customary prayer. The Teller resolution will be taken up immediately. Stewart of Nevada began the last day's debate on the resolution.

M'KINLEY RETURNS.

New York, Jan. 28—President McKinley, J. Allison Porter, Jr., and Abner McKinley left the Warldorf-Astoria at 10:25 this morning. The party left Jersey City for Washington on the Washington limited which arrives at Washington early this morning.

CIGARS WILL BE BETTER.

Pettigrew Introduces an Important Resolution.

By wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Jan. 28—General Lee informed the state department that the shipments to the United States of filler tobacco from which the Embargo was recently removed is being made.

In the Senate Pettigrew introduced a resolution reciting that it is "contrary to the interest, policy tradition of the people of the United States to acquire any territory so situated as to require the protection of the navy." The resolution went over.

Andrews Writes a Letter.

The Telegram is in receipt of a letter from W. R. Andrews, whose daughter recently married against his wishes one Mr. Parker. Mr. Andrews thinks some injustice was done him in these columns. His letter came too late for publication and the correction only can be made that Mr. Andrews' daughter remains at home of her own accord; that she refuses to live with her husband, though no force is used to prevent her, and that she has never lived with him at any time.

World on Sherwood.

Mr. Wm. Sherwood was enthusiastically received, and, after an admirable performance, rose from the piano, leaving a generally felt regret that a pianist of his caliber does not more often appear in New York to leaven the huge lump of technicians and piano players by trade. His touch is subtle and magnetic, his style perfectly finished and brilliant. He was in evidently congenial company with the romantic Schumann, and his work will not soon be forgotten.—New York World.

Strikers Loose.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

London, Jan. 28.—Today's meeting of delegates representing master's men in the engineers' strike sealed the victory of the employers. The result of the conference will be a general resumption of work in the engineering trade next Monday.

C. R. Falls, the "great big overgrown giant" of a blacksmith of King's Mountain, put on 16 mule shoes one day last week in 75 minutes and says he can do still better if any one else can do as well.

"CHERRY LAST NIGHT.

Played to a Large Audience--A Big Success Scored.

The charming little drama, "Cherry" about which so much has been said in the local papers of late was played at the Academy of Music to a good house last night. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Brockmann orchestra and good music it was, too.

From the time the curtain went up on the first act the interest ran high. The arrangement was so perfect that little time was lost between the acts. The story of "Cherry" is an interest-one and the scenes and incidents connected with her love affair with Rudolph Dean, the millionaire's son, some of them sad in the extreme, were so vividly portrayed and naturally put on that scores of eyes in the audience were wet with tears.

The murder of Rudolph Dean, and the arrest and conviction of Mark Goodwin for the crime, the tramp's confession and the vindication of Mark, formed an intensely interesting part of the play. The arrest of Mark, by Officers Jordan and Scott, the interference of Uncle Bob, the rich Mexican ranch owner, and the scene between Mark and his wife was admirably played.

The scene in which the Eagle Hose company boys appeared in full uniform, the fire alarm, the Allen House on fire, prompt response of the firemen and the rescue of the tramp from the basement by Charlie Hilton, was all wonderfully well carried out.

Throughout the drama the parts were well handled, and it would, perhaps, be unjust to particularize. When it is considered that all were amateurs, too much cannot be said in praise of the entire company.

Miss Brown, as "Cherry," was the star of the evening. Miss Wolfe, as the wife of Mark Goodwin, was perfectly at home in the play, while Miss Crocker, as the rich widow and mother of Rudolph Dean, performed well her difficult role. Mr. B. S. Phillips as Uncle Bob, and Miss Susie Stone, as Flossie Maxwell, his daughter, were the favorites of the evening. Mr. C. M. Elam, as Billy Oliver, the bicycle sport in love with Flossie and Dr. J. T. Johnson, as Charlie Hilton, the love-sick young man and later the brave fireman who finally wins Cherry, deserve special mention.

Mr. A. B. High, as Rudolph Dean, carried on an enraptured courtship with Cherry, was opposed bitterly by Mark Goodwin, Cherry's father, prepared to elope, but was killed early in the play and was left out of the most exciting part of the performance.

Mr. Roscnblatt, as Mark Goodwin, was a good character, and Mr. W. H. Rees, as Jo Black, the tramp, held close attention while acting his part.

Between the acts, Miss Carrie Smith, of Summerfield, entertained the audience with several solos, which were greatly enjoyed and heartily encored.

At the close of the performance, a genuine Southern cake walk was given which made a "big hit." The were three prizes offered: A handsome cake, a box of candy, and a pumpkin. The first was for the most unique and original costumes, won by Mr. John Stewart and Mrs. Dolly Hayden. The second, for the most graceful walking, won by Mr. B. S. Phillips and Miss Maude Ward; and the third, for the most ridiculous appearance, won by Mr. Sam Ingram. The prizes were presented in an appropriate speech by Mr. Zeb. V. Taylor.

The Telegram rises now to make a motion that the drama "Cherry" be repeated at an early day. Do we get a second?

The Veteran Corps Band.

The concert given by this excellent organization, under the auspices of Petersburg Chapter Daughters of the Confederacy, at the Academy, last evening, proved one of the most enjoyable musical events of the season.

The delightful programme consisted chiefly of popular selections and admirable renditions by the soloists of the Band, and fully merited the vigorous encores and applause which each number was accorded. On the whole, the concert was one of the best heard in this city since that of the justly celebrated "March King," whose popular composition, "El Capitan," concluded the charming programme of the evening.—The Daily Index and Appeal, Petersburg, Va., Dec. 14, 1897.

At the Academy of Music Friday night, Feb. 4th.

Mrs. Margaret Smith, mother of Mrs. Sandy Smith of Concord, will, on the 27th of October be 102 years of age. She enjoys remarkbly good health. She is the oldest living person in Cabarrus county.

RUSSIA WINS, OR ENGLAND?

Both are Bidding for the Chinese Loan.

RUSSIAN FLEET IS HELPLESS.

Japanese Firms Refuse to Supply Coal — Report is Confirmed From Pekin.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

London, Jan. 28.—It is announced from Pekin that after Russia had offered China a loan upon the same conditions as England, China invited Russia to guarantee to defend her against the possible displeasure of England. Russia was evasive in her reply. When a similar guarantee was asked of England against Russia she promptly agreed to give it. The Cabinet re-assembled today for a long session. The Russian fleet at Port Arthur is helpless for want of coal. The Japanese firms which had contracted to supply the fleet have defaulted.

CONFIRMED FROM PEKIN.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Pekin, Jan. 28.—The report that Russia has offered China a loan on the same terms as England has been confirmed.

SALEM'S MUSICAL EVENT.

And Other Matter of Interest From The Twin-City.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Winston, Jan. 28.—The midwinter concert the musical event of the winter occurred here last night in the Academy chapel. The hall was crowded, as it always is at these events. The programme was highly interesting, consisting of solos, duos, recitations, piano solos by the students of the Academy and all the members were enthusiastically received by the friends of the Academy present.

Tonight because of the great number of friends and patrons who could not attend the first night, the programme will be repeated.

This morning at 7 o'clock Charles Williams, colored, 18 years old cut George Murphy, colored in two places. First cut across the face from the ear to eyebrow and second cut across cheek through corner of mouth. Williams attempted to escape but was captured by policeman May. The scrap took place in R. J. Reynolds factory, during a tumult occasioned by the shouting of a number of negro women who professed religion last night. Murphy is not thought to be cut fatally.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Penn who were married last evening at 7 o'clock in Madison, arrived last night on the Norfolk & Western, spending the night and leaving on the 10:30 train for northern cities.

Indications are that a good number will come down tomorrow night to be present at the presentation of the opera "Wang" Saturday night.

IS NEW YORK CIVILIZED?

It Has Only Reached the Moonshine Stage.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

New York, Jan. 28—Internal revenue agents today raided an illicit distillery at 65 Norfolk street. The moonshiners had 500 gallons of mash in different stages of fermentation. The still is a large double cylinder apparatus with a capacity of 50 gallons a day. Hyman Gluckstein, the alleged owner, was arrested.

Academy of Music Tomorrow Night.

It is expected that the King of Siam will this winter make his frequently promised visit to the United States. This visit is expected to place about the time that the Siamese opera "Wang," is to be put on for another New York run. In this event much of the broader burlesque on the Siamese government will be toned down and the librettist Goodwin has already indicated the changes necessary before the King could be invited to witness the production.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News from Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU,
HIGH POINT, N. C., Jan. 28, '98.

The scholars of the ninth grade have presented handsome portraits, finely framed, of Horace Mann, John H. Pestalozzi, Fredrick Troeble, George Washington, and Alfred Tennyson to the graded school. This makes the class room very attractive and it is hoped it will prove an inspiration to the students. Capt. W. H. Snow, "the father of High Point," has also presented a handsome portrait of himself. The school is more than filling expectations, and Prof. George H. Crowell deserves the highest praise for his untiring efforts.

Owing to an attack of lagrippe Dr. McIver was unable to lecture before the graded school last night. Prof. Crowell hopes to have the doctor here next week.

Dr. J. W. Long, assisted by Dr. Ferree, of Asheboro, Dr. D. A. Stanton, of this place, and Dr. Dorsett, of Bethany, performed a very difficult operation on Mrs. L. A. Johnson yesterday at Orinoco. They also did supra-public cystotomy on a colored man by the name of Will Gray.

Mrs. Will Worth and children, of Charlotte, who have been visiting Mr. J. S. Worth, left this morning for their home.

Miss Cassie Olive left this morning for a visit to friends in Madison.

Editor Hammer, of Asheboro, was in the city last night on business.

Dr. Tomlinson, of Archdale, passed through this morning from Greensboro going home.

E. D. Steel and C. S. Cude returned from Greensboro last night.

J. M. Carr, of Greensboro, stopped over here last night. He was on bis way to Atlanta.

Rev. N. R. Richardson left this morning for a week in Mt. Airy.

BLOODY BATTLE WITH A BUCK.

Rescuer Deserted by Game Warden Whose Life he Saved.

Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 26.—A. G. Barker, who lives in the Alleghany mountains, several miles north of Cato, a day or two ago had a thrilling encounter with a buck.

Mr. Barker was traveling an old road through the forest of the Spruce Run Game Preserve, when he was startled by a bellowing and cries for help. Hastening in the directin whence the cries proceeded he came upon a monster buck pawing and prodding with its widespread antlers at a man lying prone upon upon the ground.

Securing a good club, Mr. Barker rushed to the rescue, striking the animal a terrific blow in the hope of driving it away. The buck lunged at him, giving the man on the ground an opportunity rise. The latter, who proved to be one of the wardens of the preserve, was not seriously hurt, and resolved to miss no chances, ran for his life, leaving Barker to fight it out alone with the enraged buck.

As the deer sprang at him he grabbed its antlers, on which he maintained a firm hold, while the buck swung him in the air with a very angry toss of its head.

While performing these evolutions Barker was thrown fully 20 feet, lodging against a rock. The buck rushed at him as he rose bruised and bleeding, but by this time Barker succeeded in opening his penknife and by jabbing the animal about the nose caused it to abandon the attack.

Baker's clothes were torn to shreds, and he was painfully hurt, but no bones were broken, and he was able to make his way home alone.

An Excellent Performance.

The following from the Lynchburg, Va., News of Jan 12, refers to the Lillian Tucker Company, which opens an engagement of five nights and Saturday matinee at the Academy of Music Monday Jan. 31st.

A large audience was at the opera house last evening to witness the opening performance of the Lillian Tucker Company, and it is very safe to say that there was not a person present who did not derive a great deal of pleasure from the evening's entertainment. "La Belle Marie," the play of the evening, was a bright interesting attraction, with just that blending of the serious and the gay that ninety-nine audiences out of a hundred enjoy. Of Miss Lillian Tucker and her support, much has been said and written, and the fine reputation that preceded the company to Lynchburg was fully justified by last night's performance.

New York, Jan. 28—The police commissioners directed that "The" Allen, a pool-room keeper, be tried immediately. He has been arrested twenty times and has always escaped sentence. There are now five indictments in the hands of the district attorney.

BURNED TO DEATH.

Alleghany, Jan. 28—Mrs. Rueman of 94 Ohio street, was burned to death this morning by a fire in her room. The origin is a mystery. The detectives are trying to find Rueman, who is missing. He asked at police headquarters last night if he could not have his wife put out early this morning.

Judge Robinson's Latest.

A Durham correspondent writes the Charlotte Observer:

This morning in the superior court Will Curry was tried and convicted of larceny. Judge Robinson, in sentencing the prisoner made the following remarks:

"I hate to send you to the workhouse, but reckon I will have to do it. The next time you want anything do not steal it from one of these old saint like men, who have their faces turned heavenward and appear to be so good but who will come up lacking in the last great day, but come to me and I will not prosecute you."

The gentleman from whom the negro stole the things is a highly respected minister and has been a resident of Durham since Durham has been a town, and the citizens here do not relish any such insinuations from any one.

Mr. Leiter, of Chicago, is not disposed to pour any oil upon the troubled waters in this country or elsewhere.

Some Pennsylvania women are very peculiar.—Exchange.

And some Pennsylyania women are hardly peculiar in that respect.

The efforts of newspapers of a certain class to canonize Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan and men of his stripe is about as sensible as Mr. Marion Butler's deep-rooted conspiracies.

The speech of President McKinley at the New York banquet last night suggests that the champagne must have had a very exhilerating effect upon the chief magistrate considering that he is a teetotaler.

There was not much railroad building in North Carolina last year. There will be still less this year if the iconoclasts are to remain on deck.—Wilmington Review.

And there will be less building of every kind where money from abroad is required. North Carolina is getting into "a bad row for stumps."

Herr Trojan, the editor of the Berlin Comic Weekly Kladderadatsch, has become a victim of the Kaiser's lack of the sense of humor—or, rather, of the inability of Pussian judges to appreciate a joke.—Philadelphia Record.

If the joke is like the average German article the sentence is too light by half. The Kaiser should rent a corner of Siberia for his jokists. What is two months' imprisonment as compared with the cold blooded perpetration of a chunk of Vaterland fun? It is like sending Jack, the Ripper, to a reformatory for a week.

Send your boy to college. In a few years it will be useless for an uneducated man to try to become a successful farmer.—Progressive Farmer.

That sounds more like it. If the Progressive Farmer would devote more of its editorial space to matter of that sort and less to the advocacy of political nostrums and economic impossibilities, it might be a source of real help to the farmer. The one supreme need of the farmer is a little more training in the nimble use of his head in his young days. Given that and he will make a good living, though the initiative cease to initiate and the referendum to refer.

The Charleston News and Courier rises to remark:

What he says about the close correspondence between populism and so-called democracy is well said, and supports the contention we have made that, whatever it was, the Chicago platform of 1896 was not a democratic platform, measured by democratic standards.

The News and Courier is not alone in the contention. The same thing has been said by papers in every part of the country. "The Chicago platform of 1896 was not a democratic platform" is a very familiar saying. It is well to note in passing that while many have made the declaration not one has proved it. And very few have attempted to prove it.

Rev. Sam P. Jones is going to the Methodist conference at Baltimore in May to ascertain what his status as an evangelist is. After the money he has raised for the church and the converts he has made he thinks he is entitled to know something about his status.—Wilmington Star.

The Rivrent Samivel looking for his status? Think ye that the Rivrent Samivel ever had any doubts as to his status? We don't trow. Sam P. knows that he stands squarely and altitudinously on the pinnacle of the very apex. He cannot look up; he is at the top; for him there is not any up, it is all down, way down to his nearest neighbor. That is the status of the Rivrent Samivel.

If Mr. Cramp would only cramp his inclinations to oratory and Mr. Carnegie would curb his longing to shine as a writer on economics, a public that is getting raw on the edges would overlook Homestead riots and cracked armor plate.

An Oil Well's $5,000 a Day.

Sistersville, W. Va., Jan. 27—Mallory Bros., and Barnesdall today struck oil in the Big Injun sand in Wild Cat territory, near the Whisky Run field. Are You "Run Down?"

Until February, 1892, I was a physical wreck and had been for over twenty years. No one can ever know what I suffered from rheumatism and neuralgia in different parts of my body, but principally in my head. I suffered so much with pains in my back that often I would have to lay with bottles of hot water to my back to give me what little relief it would. I suffered with indigestion for years, which gave me often such choking spells that the doctor would have to be summoned in haste. I could not eat a mouthful of meat or solid food of any kind, and the eructation of gas from my stomach was distressing. My system was completely run down. I had no strength and was distressingly nervous. Sometimes I would be unconscious from these nervous spells and would have to have hot baths applied for relief. When I had been in this condition for over twenty years, Mrs. Joe Person visited our town in February, 1892, and persuaded me to try a half-dozed bottles of her Remedy, as she told me she had never known it to fail to restore a broken down system. I knew I would have to try something and thought it might as well be her Remedy as anything, but I had no faith in anything curing me. I bought a half-dozen bottles and when I was on the second I began to feel better and by the time I took the six bottles I WAS WELL. Indigestion was perfectly cured and I can now eat anything I want and it agrees with me. It cured me entirely of neuralgia and I have never had it since. It cured me of hemorrhoids from which I suffered agony—rheumatism, backache, headache, nervousness all cured. When I see any one suffering from anything I ask them why don't they take the Remedy, that half a dozen bottles would cure them. I would not take hundreds of dollars for what it did for me. It restored me to health and now I enjoy life.

DEMANDED $5,000 OR LIFE.

A Man With a Revolver Held up Judge Madill, of St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 27.—A well-dressed man confronted ex-Judge Madill, president of the Union Trust Company, at noon today in his office and demanded $5,000 in cash down. To enforce his demand he presented a revolver at the gray head of the ex-Judge and threatened to blow him into eternity unless the cash was forthcoming at once. Judge Madill promised to get the money, but called an officer who arrested the fellow, handcuffed him and took him to prison. When searched a small bottle of nitro-glycerine was found in his pocket.

Joys of Authorship.

New York, Jan. 27—Hallie Erminie Rives, the young southern author and cousin of Princess Troubetzkoi, formerly Mrs. Amelia Rives Chandler is a patient in the sanitarium at Brooklyn. Unnerved by the hostile criticism of her recent work, "Smoking Flax," and overtaxed by the effort to get out another volume dealing with Southern problems, she was removed from the Waldorf yesterday and taken to the sanitarium for treatment and rest. Her doctor hopes that Miss Rives will be convalescent within a week or two, but think that she needs a long rest. In "Smoking Flax," Miss Rives defended lynch law in the south.

The Grandest Remedy.

Mr. R. B. Greeve, merchant, of Chilhowie, Va., certifies that he had consumption, was given up to die, sought all medical treatment that money could procure, tried all cough remedies he could hear of, but got no relief; spent many nights sitting up in a chair; was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery, and was cured by use of two bottles. For past three years has been attending to business, and says Dr. King's New Discovery is the grandest remedy ever made, as it has done so much for him and also for others in his community. Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed for coughs, colds and consumption. It don't fail. Trial bottles free at C E. Holton's drug store.

JOHN KEATS.

A Poet's Gentle Life That Was Terminated All Too Soon.

In the days of Keats, Hampstead and Highgate were still capable of having an individuality of their own and of teeming with interesting associations. Part of their celebrity arises from those associations thus formed. Leigh Hunt, visiting those scenes before his death, would point to the wooden seat where he and Keats or he and Shelley sat when such a poem was recited or to the path through the fields where Coleridge took leave of him and Charles Lamb, who would stutter some witticism at parting.

John Keats was born in Moorsfield, London, 1795, and at the age of 15 was left an orphan, when he entered upon a five years' apprenticeship in a surgeon apothecary shop at Edmonton. From his youth he showed a passion for music and poetry and spent all his leisure moments in poring over books. After reading "The Faerie Queene" he would talk of nothing but Spenser. He learned whole passages by heart, which he would repeat and dwell upon with ecstasies of delight. His first poetical composition, written at the age of 17, was entitled "In Imitation of Spenser." From that time it seemed that Keats lived only to read poetry and to write it. He luxuriated in the thoughts of poets, talked about them and read them to his friends.

Before Keats' apprenticeship was over it was evident that he would not persevere in becoming a surgeon. At 20 he entered a hospital as a student, but soon gave it up and found more congenial society with Leigh Hunt, Shelley, Goodwin, Haydon and others. Keats signalized his accession to this literary group by publishing in 1817 a small volume of poems. Hunt describes him at this time as being under medium height, with shoulders very broad for his size. His face, strongly cut, yet delicately mobile, denoted determination and sensitiveness. His entire expression was of eager power, and he plainly showed his emotions. Wordsworth alone he seemed to look upon as a sublimity among contemporary poets.

In 1817 he left London to lead a quiet, thoughtful and busy life on the isle of Wight, returning a year later with four books of his "Endymion" completed. In 1820 he was seized with the fatal malady, the knowledge of which had been his fearful secret for some years. After a few months, during which he seemed partly to fight with death as one to whom life was precious and partly to long to die as one who had nothing to live for, he was taken to Italy and there breathed his last at Rome, February, 1821, at the age of 25.

He had wished for "ten years of poetic life," but not half that term had been allowed him. Crowded into his short life was much of interest with his ambitions, his high ideals and his talents, and had he lived the ordinary age of man many think that he would have been one of the greatest poets.—Exchange.

A homelike picture of Mrs. Washington and her favorite granddaughter is given by Mrs. James Gibson, who frequently visited her when, as the president's wife, she resided in Philadelphia, then the capital of the United States. Mrs. Gibson's language is quoted by Miss Wharton in her "Martha Washington."

Mrs. Washington was in the habit of retiring at an early hour to her own room, unless detained by company, and there, no matter what the hour, Nellie (Miss Custis) attended her.

One evening my father's carriage being late in coming for me, my dear young friend invited me to accompany her to grandmamma's room. There, after some little chat, Mrs. Washington apologized to me for pursuing her usual preparations for the night, and Nellie entered upon her accustomed duty by reading a chapter and a psalm from the old family Bible, after which all present knelt in evening prayer.

Mrs. Washington's faithful maid then assisted her to disrobe and lay her head upon the pillow. Nellie then sang a verse of some sweetly soothing hymn and then leaning down received the parting blessing for the night, with some emphatic remarks on her duties, improvements, etc. The effect of these judicious habits and teachings appeared in the granddaughter's character through life.

A Well Used Cradle.

The Chicago Inter Ocean says: "Mordecai Hardesty, the first white child born in Indianapolis, was rocked through infancy in a cradle in the possession of Mrs. Brandt, wife of the Rev. J. L. Brandt, pastor of the Christian tabernacle of Valparaiso, Ind. The cradle is known to be 106 years old. It was brought from Virginia to Indiana at an early day. Altogether 40 sons of Indiana have been rocked in this same relic, which is still doing service in the home of the Rev. Mr. Brandt. The cradle was hewed from the log, is 3 feet 2 inches long and from its long continued use closely resembles ebony."

Sad Misunderstanding.

"It was all I could do to keep from laying violent hands on him," said the keeper of the high class cafe as the pale young man departed. "The idea of his calling this place a beanery!"

"He meant to pay you a compliment," said the listener. "Are you not aware that he is a Bostonian?"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Though Rome is called the Eternal City, the name by right belongs to the city of Damascus, in Syria, which is the oldest city in the world. As long as man has written records the city of Damascus has been known.

Of the foreign born population of the United States the Irish are now only about 20 per cent, whereas in 1850 they were over 40 per cent.

Hospitality.

Who says that there is room for fear
Concerning news that's on the wing?
Behold a refutation clear;
The Maine has gone a visiting.

The cannon spoke their "howdydo's,',
For calling cards their flags they fling.
Majestic etiquette they use.
The Maine has gone a visiting.

Do neighbors who have quarrelled call
And their politest manners bring?

Georgia's Convict Sale.

Atlanta, Ga., January 26—Georgia will auction off her convicts, about 2,300 in number, on April 1. From these who will be sold into servitude are excepted boys under fifteen years of age; such aged, diseased and infirm convicts as in the judgment of the commission should not be hired out, and such convicts under one and two years sentence as may be hired to the county authorities under the provision of said act.

Those who purchase these convicts will be allowed to resell them to the best advantage.

Smallpox Proved Fatal.

Wm. Jackson, colored, the first smallpox patient reported to the authorities, died yesterday morning at a 5 o'clock, at his house on South McDowell street.

From the time it was discovered that he had smallpox the doctors saw that they had a serious case on their hands. Dr. Wilder said to the Observer man Monday after first seeing Jackson, that he was a very sick man. He was treated vigorously, but the disease had too strong hold on him. Symptoms of unremia developed Wednesday afternoon and death resulted in twelve hours.—Charlotte Observer.

A Thoughtful Letter Worthy of Thoughtful Consideration.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The Newberne Journal is right in its commendation of the support given by the people of this community to the Southern Stock Mutual Insurance Company, and it is greatly to the credit of the community, that they promptly inaugurated another Company to support and widen the capacity of the Southern. It is good; let the ball roll. All the arguments are in favor of this act, and it does look as if we are at last beginning to realize that a man south of the Mason and Dixon's line is capable of judging the value of a fire risk, and able and willing to pay for the loss of the property if misfortune comes. The record of the Southern I learn since it has been in business is: every claim promptly met, and not a single case of litigation or dissatisfaction by any one having a claim for damages or loss.

But insurance companies do not employ a large number of hands nor produce from raw material one single item. It is true these home companies are now preserving and retaining at home great sums that were once being drawn out of this country.

The thing I designed to do in this article is not to condemn our insurance companies; I applaud them, but I do believe that one-half the amount that was put into the new insurance company, if put into a half dozen manufacturing enterprises would yield to the capitalist larger financial returns, and to the merchants of the community twenty times the returns.

Now in defense of the insurance companies I would say this money is now open for investment. Don't buy bonds in another state or community. If any one desires to enter some manufacturing enterprise, try to utilize this investment. No more stores, we have too many now. Produce from the raw material, pay skilled labor, this is the surest basis of true prosperity for any community. O, but one says we havn't the money. It did not take an hour to raise $80,000.

Demonstrate the power of manufacturing enterprises to pay, then men should be willing to put their money into it. It is just the way you look at it. Charlotte, Durham, Raleigh and Winston have given their attention to encouraging manufacturing enterprises Greensboro to insurance. Results: Raleigh has some large enterprises, Winston excels in tobacco, Durham tobacco and cotton, Charlotte in a diversity of small enterprises that will tell in the end, and I believe the latter has pursued the wisest course. She seemingly has had three ideas: Good roads and streets, cleanliness, diversified industries. Now as to comparisons:

First. Every one of these cities have had more capital to draw from than Greensboro, yet Greensboro has succeeded in one particular business that required more cash than any other one business. About seven years ago Charlotte and Greensboro both were working in co-operation cotton factories. Charlotte succeeded in both of hers, and Greensboro never amounted to anything. Charlotte and Greensboro started insurance companies. Greensboro succeeded and Charlotte amounted to nothing. Then where are we to look for the solution of it. Simply this:

The fidelity or support rendered each enterprise in its infancy and early stages of effort. There should be at least two other cotton factories here now that are not here because of the lack of harmony of purpose in supporting them. There are three other branches of manufacturing now that should be started here, either one of which could be made to pay. One of these alone a party has $5,000 to put into, if he could get $3,000 more, on which he would guarantee 3 per cent. interest the first year and 6 per cent. after the third year, and this guarantee he would hold for six years with the privilege of paying back the first amount invested.

We take off our hats to our insurance friends, but we must furnish more employment to skilled labor, we must manufacture more, we must produce more, or we cannot hold our own in this day of enterprise and push.
